

DESIGN FOR ENVIRONMENT

Klem is committed to executing a Design for Environment process for the continued improvement and effective use of materials. This process will include the design development, manufacturing and life cycle planning of products marketed by JSI and Klem. Klem will act as a steward for the environment and perform in a sustainable manner which will provide value and added benefit to all stakeholders.

Klem commits to the following:

- Use of renewable materials as applicable.
- Use of recycled materials as applicable.
- Use of recycled and biodegradable as applicable.
- Implementation of end-of-life management.
- Implementation of a water management plan.
- Implementation of an energy efficiency plan.

All Klem stakeholders share in the responsibility for the best use of materials and the conservation of our natural resources for present and future generations.

Approved this 7th day of February, 2015.
